Delphine is a Solicitor of England and Wales with over a decade of international experience corporate, commercial, and technology law. Based in Bangkok, she advises startups, venture-backed companies, and international investors on cross-border transactions, governance, tax, and regulatory compliance throughout Southeast Asia and Europe.

Her practice spans AI and emerging technologies, digital health, sustainability, and consumer ventures, where she helps clients structure, scale, and navigate complex commercial and ethical landscapes.

Before joining PD Legal, Delphine worked in international law firms and growth-stage enterprises across London, Singapore, and Bangkok. Her combined experience in private practice and executive roles gives her a deep understanding of the legal, operational, and human dimensions of business growth.

She has advised clients across hospitality, technology, health, and consumer industries, supporting them through strategic partnerships, digital transformation, and market expansion initiatives.

Fluent in English, French, Thai, and German, Delphine is recognised for her ability to bridge law, strategy, and culture, helping businesses expand with clarity, integrity, and commercial insight.
